

Mothers Feedback

Moms, we value your thoughts and ideas about how we are doing with reaching out to men. Please take a couple of minutes to respond to the following survey.

	Yes	No	Comments
1. In general, our premises are comfortable for men and fathers.
2. Staff address fathers as well as mothers when they visit our premises.
3. We have visible posters that reflect a diversity of men in positive relationships with children.
4. We have resources that speak to men's issues, including fathering, health, stress, work, etc.
5. Flyers and other written announcements are addressed to mothers and to fathers.
6. Mothers are encouraged to understand the ways men tend to interact with children.
7. The community sees our organization as a place fathers can get support.
8. Guest speakers, workshops and presentations are on topics relevant to men and fathers.
9. We provide opportunity for healthy discussion about fatherhood, motherhood, and relating to children.
10. Programs are scheduled at times when fathers are more likely to be available.
11. Home visits and meetings are scheduled around the availability of fathers.
12. Programs reflect things of interest to fathers.
13. The approach to reach fathers differs from the approach to reach mothers.
14. The programs reflect the diversity of fathers and men raising children.
15. The organization has prioritized the role of fathers in the life of children.
